

Therapy Pro – How we work with children and keep children safe

- You have the right to feel safe with people who work with you and visit you
- Therapy Pro staff are adults who work with you and will visit you to help you with therapy
- Therapy Pro staff might visit you at home, at school or somewhere else you go and spend time
- Therapy Pro staff must make you feel safe and be safe when they visit and work with you
- If there are times that you do not feel safe, or you feel scared or frightened you can tell an adult you trust – like your parents, teachers or someone from Therapy Pro and they have to help you.
- It is OK to say “NO” to something if it makes you feel scared or frightened
- If you ever feel unsafe or unsure about anything, you should tell an adult that you trust
- It’s important for you to know that your body belongs to you and you are not to be hurt or scared
- Nothing is so bad that you can’t tell someone about it
